About

With over 9 years of experience in programming and web design/development, I am proficient in a variety of frameworks. I excel at solving complex problems and rapidly upgrading software. My expertise encompasses both back-end and front-end development, along with strong skills in database design. I am also familiar with DevOps & SRE concepts, Git, Docker, Scrum, network and security concepts, complemented by extensive experience in Linux environments. I have a keen interest in exploring new and innovative technologies to develop effective solutions for real-world challenges . Additional information in website & LinkedIn.
